LOCAL MATTER.

E. C. WOODSON, City Editor.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mad.

Dark—last night.

It is not very good Fair weather.

Bad day for circus yesterday.

The atmosphere is decidedly damp.

HEAVY—The race tracks at the Fairs yesterday.Too bad—the weather. [Woodson is away.]Interesting themes—the Circus and the weather.Show-ery—Robinson's Circus and the weather yesterday.The weather was very foul yesterday.
(Woodson is absent.)A gloomy subject for local editors—the rain. (Woodson is absent.)Robinson's show lost at least $2,500 by the bad weather yesterday."It never rains but it pours," can be appropriately applied to the present spell.W. H. Smith, wife and daughter of Scotland Neck, were in the city yesterday.Notwithstanding the heavy rains and muddy streets, Robinson's pavilion was crowded yesterday.The city was full yesterday of drenched darkeys who came to look at "ye animals" and see the circus.Seventy-four names were registered at the Yarbrough yesterday, and it was not a good day for registering either.There will be a meeting of W. G.
Hill Lodge, No. 218, to-night at 7 o'clock for work in the Master's Degree.The circus did not exhibit last night on account of the unfavorable weather.
Robinson canceled the tickets he had sold.Blair Burwell, Esq., of Louisburg, N. C., connected with the firm of A. L.
Hunt & Co., of Baltimore, is stopping at the Yarbrough.What animal was most thought of yesterday?—The rain, dear, (reindeerof course. [This is not original. Woodson is in Charlotte.]Those who waded through the mud knee-deep to see Robinson's show yesterday must have felt sore to the circus question. (Woodson is absent.)What would we have done for local briefs, (in the absence of Woodson,) if it had not rained, and Robinson's circus hand't come to the city yesterday?
Echo answers, what!Yesterday was the "big day" at the Fairs at Goldsboro, Charlotte, Norfolk, Petersburg and Lynchburg. The dust was well laid on the race track by the refreshing showers.Three honest farmers from Harnett county started in a wagon from their homes to attend Robinson's circus in this city. Their wagon broke down and they footed it through the rain—a distance of 35 miles.Why was the rain which fell yesterday not like the quality of mercy? 1st.
Because it was not "gentle." And 2nd. Because it was not "twice blessed" —it did not bless him who received.
(Woodson is absent.)For the past two days we have had almost incessant and drenching rains.
The weather doubtless will have a dampening effect on the Fairs being held this week at Charlotte, Goldsboro, Norfolk, Petersburg and Lynchburg.If we should discuss that fresh, original and interesting subject, the state of the weather, at too great a length in this morning's issue, our readers will please pardon us, as we could not venture out yesterday after other items.
(Woodson is absent.)APOLOGY.—We are requested by Mr.
John F. Robinson, Jr., to state that in consequence of the extreme inclemency of the weather and the impossibility of his giving an entertainment in accordance with his advertisements, he was compelled to forego his evening entertainment yesterday. Several hundreds were turned away from the doors in the afternoon, and he redeemed all the tickets he could find as soon as he decided not to give an exhibition at night.By this step, Mr. Robinson sacrificed his pecuniary interests to the amount perhaps of one thousand dollars—but he was unwilling to do himself the injustice of attempting an exhibition under the circumstances.

THE DAILY NEWS.

VOL. I.

RALEIGH, N. C., FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 25, 1872.

NO. 173.

ST. MARY'S AND THE STATE FAIR.— The following letter from Raleigh, via Norfolk and the Journal of that city, we reproduce for the purpose chiefly of severely condemning our friend "Meek-lenburg," for his unjust allusion to our State Fair, and his most ungentle reflection upon all other fairs of whatever sort. He is mistaken when he says the exhibition at the State Fair was a failure. But hear him:

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 21, 1872.

If I had this brief piece to speak instead of write, all my ts and ds would be ds, and all my ns nothing and nowhere—left out in the cold. I have got the whole coming winter of 1872 and '3 in my nose and head. And I'll tell you how I got it there. I went last Thursday night to a saire at St. Mary's Academy—the loveliest and most alluring spot, both in repose and in amusement in all the Carolinas—and fell deeply in love; not with any one of its beauties either, but with them all—the whole society. Of course I haven't slept a wink since, and equally of course, too, I have spent the whole of every night gazing at the moon and the stars, wishing the brightest of them all were mine and all St. Mary's solitary home—may the worthy teachers of course.

So much for wishes; in effect I have only each night got the chill morning dew absolutely in my pockets, and at last, as I have said, all Boreas in my nose.

"An you love me" send me a remedy; not for my love of St. Mary's, for that is past all cure, but for the cold it has done ad. My doctor says, to console me, that it is an epidemic here just now.
I don't know about that, but I have, I know, one friend in the satre fix, and from the same cause I suspect. I went to see him—laid up—and offered to share with him the aforesaid consolation from my doctor. But he ungratefully rejected it, saying as he turned his face away from me to the wall, that his was no epidemic, but a simple numerical epidemic, and he—dogged to me too, or words to that effect. I was too much struck with the diagnosis to argue the contrary, and so let him with Jack Bunting's blessing "on his eyes," including my own nose.

All I know about the Fair last week is, that it does not, thank heaven, extend into this; and that, like all other fairs, of whatever sort, it was a disappointment in the end. Still I believe it was a grand success in so far as the number of people disappointed was concerned.
There was little or nothing, I was informed, on exhibition from the Eastern parts of the State. The only day I was out there, happening to be looking around among the chicken-coops, I saw and overheard two Irishmen very earnestly discussing the merits of a pair of bantams. The hen was almost invisibly small; but, nevertheless, one of the exiles of Erin, in his zeal and love for "the old country," assured the other, that he had seen there "a hin, shure, as little as two of that!"

All I have to tell you of, politically, is that the Sentinel office hasn't come down yet. But the irresponsible Turner and his inextinguishable Associate are now daily issuing a half sheet through a very small hole in a bomb-proof.

FOWL BUGLARY.—On Wednesday, or more probably early yesterday morning, a raid was made upon the chicken-coops at Mrs. H. W. Miller's, on Newbern street, and all the chickens ravished thence without their consent, also the fattest turkey of a lot of that bird of Paradise—in an edible sense.

A lucky boarder of the house reports the outrage in such violent indignation as to induce us so far to compound with the thieves as to warn them to leave the city and the State at once. He seems to forget their moderation about the turkeys.

So much in kindness to the thieves: Our duty to the community moves us to warn all possessors of similar property to remove it without delay into their parlors.

THE YARBROUGH HOUSE TO BE ENLARGED.—We have just been shown the plans of Mr. Appleget, the Architect, for enlarging and remodeling this well-known house. We say without fear of contradiction that by the 1st day of August next so house in the South can surpass it—both for beauty and convenience. Mr. Wm. Grimes, its present owner is a man of large means, and fully understands what the capital of the State requires in the way of a Hotel.
We have kept silent, but have often thought that Goldsboro, Greensboro, Charlotte and Wilmington would not be permitted to poke fun at us much longer.

Wait, and you will see.

PUBLIC SPEAKING IN CHATHAM.—J.
G. Rencher, Esq., will address the citizens of Chatham at the following times and places:

Womble's Store, Thursday, October 31st.

Quackenbush House, Friday, November 1st.

Harpers X Roads, Saturday, November 2nd.

And, together with Hon. John Manning, at Loy's potter shop, Monday, November 4th.

GREELEY AND BROWN CANVASS IN WAKE.—We are gratified to be able to announce the following appointments:

Geo. V. Strong, Esq., Hon. Sion J.
Rogers, Capt. S. A. Ashe, F. H. Busbee, and probably Hon. W. N. H. Smith will address the people of Wake at the following times and places:

Franklin's Monday, October 28th.
Auburn, Tuesday, October 29th.
Morrisville, Wednesday, October 30th.
Durham's, Wednesday, at night.

In ERROR.—We learn that we were in error in stating that there were headaches in the city last Saturday morning.
Upon inquiry, we find the report entirely without foundation.

THE LUNCH OF THE ROYAL BENGAL TIGER.—A well-known and most estimable confectioner of the city wisely concluded yesterday morning that he needed a new umbrella, and accordingly he purchased one of the best. He bought also a circus ticket, and to the tent of the animals, through rain and mud, with much tribulation, he wended his way; umbrella in hand. He saw the stately lion, the stuffed giraffe, the gigantic elephant, the fierce polar bear, and finally brought up in front of the cage wherein lay the Royal Bengal Tiger.
A crowd was before the cage.

"Sir him up," said one. "Certainly," said the polite showman, who, by the way, was not the man regularly in charge of the tiger department, "will you be kind enough to lend me your umbrella, sir?"

Our friend hesitated not a moment, but handed it over. The showman attempted to poke the royal beast, but alas! a stroke of the paw, a growl, and the new umbrella was within the cage, and the tiger was deliberately tearing it to pieces. In vain the owner raged, calmly the animal eyed him, and went on with the umbril.

When our reporter reached the cage the confectioner had departed, but the Royal Bengal Tiger had not concluded his lunch, though the fragments of the umbrella were fast disappearing.

Moral: Draw it for yourself, gentle reader. This incident is strictly true, and the said confectioner says that it was the fourth and last umbrella he has purchased this year.

POOR FELLOW.—We have received for publication the following brilliant epistle from some literary genius, a student at Wake Forest College, who is chagrined because the Faculty of that excellent institution would not allow him to come to Raleigh to study the wonders of the "Animal Kingdom," as illustrated in John Robinson's show.

We are sorry for this youthful collegian, but as the following is an exact and literal copy of his communication, we suggest that he devote some of his leisure hours to Webster's Spelling-book, as well to some practical treatise on the English language:

W. F. C. N. C. October 24th, 1872.

for the Daily News.

CROSS WORK.

The faculty at this place are so scrupulous, that they will not allow the students to go to see natural animals; but go themselves, and permit all of the students to go and look at horse racing and betting. Yes they stretched up as turkeys, and looked at the delating practice of horse racing.

Hope they will do better, and not drive so many young men from this to other schools. SOMEBODY.

PREMATURE.—The Era of this city gave an account a few days since, of the hanging of Martin Barnard, at Hendersonville, Henderson County, on the 18th inst. The Era was too fast for once. It was true that Barnard was sentenced to be hanged that day and five thousand people assembled at the jail on the morning of the 18th to witness the execution. But Barnard's wife being permitted to visit him on the night of the 17th, the prisoner put on his wife's dress and bonnet, and passed the jailer successfully. The jailer found Barnard's wife the only inmate of the jail when he went in next morning to carry his breakfast.
The crowd was greatly disappointed at not witnessing the hanging.

DISMAL REFLECTION.—Thousands of colored people waded through the streets yesterday to see the sights in John Robinson's grand exhibition.
Some of them were well dressed, but hundreds of them had on ragged, scanty clothing, and as they trudged along over the muddy sidewalks, while the rain fell in torrents, we mentally exclaimed:

"Poor naked wretches, whoso'er you are,
That bid the pelting of this pitiless storm, How shall your houseless heads and unfed sides,
Your looped and windowed raggedness, Defend you from seasons such as these?"

CONTRIBUTORS FOR MR. TURNER.— In the absence of Hon. Josiah Turner, Jr., who is at his home in Hillsboro, we are requested by Mr. George D. Miller to state that he has received two hundred dollars contributed by citizens of Chowan and Bertie counties to aid Mr.
Turner. One hundred dollars of this amount were contributed by Edward Wood, Esq., of Edenton, and one hundred by various citizens of Bertie, through the individual efforts of Messrs.
E. R. Outlaw and Moses Gilliam.

The Salisbury Watchman tells of a man who has paid for his obituary in advance, and suggests for him the following epitaph, which we think good.

EPITAPH.

Here lies the man who while in bloom,
And buoyant with life's fairest hopes, Fared not to peer beyond the tomb,
And nicely "rang" the "flowing robes." Nor did he mind the "expense at all."
But with a flourish threw down his cash:
"The tree," said he, "I know must fall—I'll pay the printer to sound the crash."

THE EQUINOX.—The postponed equi-noctial engagements for this year are being fulfilled now—as to these parts at least—to "crowded houses." Nobody out of doors yesterday who could not swim.

MADE TO DISOBER.—The fellow who adroitly picked the pocket of an inebriated countryman of a gold watch yesterday was compelled to disgorge—witnesses being at hand who saw the larceny.

RAFFLE.—Our friend R. H. Bradley, popular confectioner, offers for raffle, three merschaum pipes, valued at $20.
The price of a single chance is $1.00.
Here is a chance for smokers.

ARRIVAL OF KU KLUX.—Several Ku Klux prisoners from Sampson county, reached the city yesterday in charge of Maj. H. M. Miller, U. S. Deputy Marshal.

IMMIGRATION.—We are gratified to note the arrival, nearly every week, of numbers of English emigrants. We intended to have stated in our issue of last week the arrival of several families from Scotland, by the Moravian, the last steamer of the Allan Line, at Norfolk, who have come as permanent settlers in North Carolina, with a number of others prospecting for future settlement, for themselves and friends. We have heard of the arrival recently of several English families, of the most respectable character, who have located in our midst, and that a number of others are likely to follow.

We record this information with great satisfaction, as indicating that our State is attracting the attention of the better class of people abroad. We believe the indications to be favorable for a slow, but a sure tide of immigration, if the proper means are taken to secure it.

NEW BOOKS.—We acknowledge the receipt of the following works from the publishers, through the hands of Rev.
L. Branson, Bookseller of this city:

PRESENT ISSUES, or Facts Observable in the Conscience of the Age. By Robert Withers Menninger, Protestant Episcopal Church—Diocese of South Carolina, author of "What is Religion?"

GOLD, FRANKINGENSE AND MYRIEL, By E. R., author of "Idle Words," "She Has Done what She Could,"
"Levin's Treasure in Heaven."

These two books are beautifully and exquisitely bound, neatly printed and published in a style which reflects credit on the publishers, Messrs. Cla-ton, Remsen and Haffelinger, Philadelphia.

When we have time to examine them more fully, we will give our opinion of their merits.

QUARTERS AND HALF DOLLARS.— Will be scarce in the market to-morrow and for some days to come, if our information as to the attendance yesterday afternoon at the Circus, in spite of the weather, is correct representing the crowd at 5,000.

The "numerous young English nobles announced for the winter season in New York are anxiously expected by young women, and more anxiously by managing mammas."

A long suffering San Francisco criminal, who had been convicted after four indictments, five trials, one acquittal, and three hung juries. His name wasn't Mrs. Fair.

Mrs. Perrin of Wenona, recently presented her husband with a boy-baby weighing twenty-seven pounds. The only comment necessary is a sigh of relief.

When you visit Germany don't be persuaded to become the guest of the Emperor. He has only two meals a day, and slim at that.

The people of New Orleans devour more love stories than those of any other city in the Union—that is if they read their local papers.

A Peoria man put all his property into the hands of his loving wife. Result, the P. m. died alone in his stable, a deserted human wreck.

Professor J. Russell Lowell arrived in Paris early this month.

An English theatre is being built in Paris.

Professor Agassiz is on his way home.

The Horse Disease—Street Cars and ## Stages Stopped.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.

It is rumored that Bonner's mare, "Peechontas," has the malady. One hundred and fifty street cars and fifty stages have been taken off the line.
Blood-letting and drenching has been found to be failures, and many horses have died from the treatment. Among various remedies used are, solution of tea and balladonna aconite given, homopathetically, and Taylor's compound food, the product of Manhattan feed mill company. This last medicine is the only remedy which has had marked success as a preventative and a cure.

SECOND DISPATCH.

It is estimated that thirty-five per cent. of the horses here have the malady in various stages. Eight to ten thousand are sick. Alarming stories are abroad that human beings are subject to the infection, but so far they are not authenticated. Many cases of horse malady are in Hoboken, Jersey city and vicinity. A Brooklyn gentleman has sent a communication to the Agent of the New York Associated Press, stating that a subcutaneous injection of Phosphoric acid is a rapid cure for the horse disease.
The quantity to be administered small.

Horse Disease in Rochester.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 24.

Heavy frost last night. The horse disease is severer than ever. None are to be seen on the streets. Hand carts and porters are delivering goods. The disease appeared among the Canal horses along the line. There is great difficulty in procuring conveyances for funerals.

The Star says a fire among the dry goods boxes at R. L. Harris' news stand, created great excitement in Wilmington on Tuesday. It was soon extinguished.

The Greensboro Patriot says that the Lieutenant Governor of Canada has been investing in mineral property in the neighborhood of Danbury, Stokes County.

A FIRE department is talked of in Greensboro. After the disastrous fires that have recently taken place there, something more than talking it ought to be done.

DR. RAINES, of Guilford, killed three wild turkeys last Saturday. The Patriot says that when turkeys see the Doctor coming they do like Boon's coon, come down and surrender.

ELIZA BRANTLEY, the little girl who left Rocky Point, has turned up at Wilmington, at the residence of Mrs. Price. Eliza refuses to return to Rocky Point, as she was treated badly there.

The Star devotes nearly a column of editorial to picking Fagg, Britton and Flournoy. It excoriates these "Demagogic reserves" in a manner which takes the hide off of their backs.

The Wilmington papers, Star and Journal are very loud in their praise of the Pomeroy-Snedair concert. The Journal, says the violin solo of Bebechinni was magnificent and that Mr. Snedair justly lays claim to being the finest clarinet player in America.

The Wilmington Star says that the valuable property known as the Schenck place, was sold at auction Tuesday, Col. E. R. Brink being the purchaser, for the sum of $6,700. The tract contains fourteen acres. The terms were one-third cash, the balance in one and two years, with interest from date.

The Star says there are in the Wilmington Post Office the following unclaimed letters:

R. J. Taylor, Wilson, N. C.; G. W. Conett, Herring's Bluff, N. C.; Mrs. Mary Ann Carroll, Charleston, S. C.; Willie G. Hagan, Morganton, N. C.; Orient Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn.

W. C. DURHAM, Esq., in the last Cleveland Banner, takes his adieu in a well written Valedictory, and says that Capt. Plato Durham will hereafter edit the paper. We wish the retiring Editor great success, and congratulate the readers of the Banner on the accession of Captain Durham to the tripod.

The Wilmington Journal says: "The Schenck place, about two miles from this city, containing 14 acres, and on which was situated a two-story dwelling, was sold yesterday, Col. E. R. Brink being the purchaser, for the sum of $6,700—terms one-third cash; balance payable in one and two years."

The Patriot gives the following account of the recent burning of Edgeworth in Greensboro:

About seven o'clock Monday morning fire was seen by some of the workmen engaged on the Methodist College building, issuing from one of the chimneys, but no fears were entertained as the roof was of tin, but adjoining the house and coming up to the eave was a porch with a single roof. The soot rolled from the tin roof above and gathered in large quantities on this shingle roof which burned for a considerable time before discovered.

When the alarm was given it had made such progress and had taken such a hold on the main building, that, although our citizens turned out in force with the engine, it was found impossible to stay the ravages of the flames before the main building was entirely destroyed.

It was occupied by Mr. Julius Gray as a residence, who, we are glad to learn, saved most of his furniture and valuables.

Edgeworth was built about 1835 by Gov. Morehead, as a female seminary and was so used until after the war—it was valued at about $15,000 and was insured at $10,000.

The Star says that recent events establish the fact that the fire Alarm Telegraph will soon be a necessity in Wilmington.

The Fair at Weldon commences next Tuesday, and will close with a grand tournament of Knights-errant, for the approving smiles and favor to the victors of presiding beauty.

Messrs. E. S. GREGORY, Kitchen, Branch, Hill, Matthews, and—that's all—staunch Democrats and true, will speak to the intelligence and honesty of Weldon, on Saturday next, the 20th.

The Trustees of Pleasant Garden School, as we learn from the Greensboro Patriot, have resolved to establish a Collegiate School at Pleasant Garden, to open the first Thursday in November, and have put board to $6 to $7 per month. Cheap.

The Roanoke News gets off the following excellent bon-mot: "It need not be inferred that the country is 'going to the dogs' because we are reduced to a choice for President between a type-setter and a West-pointer." But our witty neighbor forgot that the West-pointer in this case has become by force of long association a "bull-pup of the reddest-eyed breed."

The Salisbury Tribune of the 23rd, says it can prove, and proposes soon to do so, the fact, setting forth the crimes of certain officials of North Carolina, as charged by that paper, and denied by the officials in question. It says it has in possession certified copies of documents establishing their guilt beyond question. We do not doubt it in the least.

THE SAFE of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Randolph county has been recently robbed of about $15,000 in money. The parties committing this heavy robbery were arrested, but one of them named York, made his escape; the other, Davis, is in custody.

The Greensboro Patriot understands the safe was entered at different times by means of a key made to fit the safe by Davis, who had been employed to do copying in the office.

A reward of $400 has been offered for York's apprehension and arrest.

We see from an editorial correspondence from Statesville with the Carolina Eagle, that the United States and District Circuit Courts commenced there on the 21st; Judge R. P. Dick, presiding, with V. S. Lusk and "Jeems Justice" as prosecuting attorneys. His Honor's charge to the jury, according to this correspondent, was chiefly an attempted vindication of the unconstitutional Ku-Klux legislation of Congress, Grant's administration, and the law establishing the District to which he was appointed Judge.

So proceeds justice in the Carolinas.

On Wednesday, at Greensboro, B. E. Parish was brought before Commission, or Ball by Deputy Marshall Hoskins, charged with having passed counterfeit coin. It seems that some six months ago the celebrated counterfeiter, McFee, left a package of money with Mr. Parish, among which was some silver, giving Mr. Parish the liberty of using it. Shortly afterwards Parish purchased of John King some tobacco and paid him in silver, which proved to be counterfeit—whereupon King, an old accomplice of McFee, informs against Parish and has him arrested. Upon King's evidence the Commissioner required Parish to enter into a bond of $1,000 for his appearance at the next term of the U. S. District Court at this place.

The Government was represented by the Commissioner of the prisoner by John N. Staples, Esq. So we learn from the Greensboro Patriot.

A LEGEND OF ST. CHRISTOPHER.

BY MISS MULLOCK.

"Apropos, a Syrian blacksmith of renowned stature and wonderful strength, having determined that he would serve none but the mightiest king, went seeking him throughout the world. Failing to find whom he sought, so long as he trusted to his own guidance, he finally asked a thoughtful hermit to tell him what to do. He directed him to station himself on the bank of a dangerous ford, where many pilgrims yearly lost their lives in crossing, and to carry over all who required his aid; and thus humble serving his fellowmen, he might serve the greatest King, and hope to see Him."

"Ere long, Christ the Lord, who holds the seas in the hollow of His hand, came to the fording place in the guise of a little boy, and asked to be carried over."

"Carry me across!" The Syrian heard, rose up and braced his huge limbs to the accustomed toil; "My child! see how the waters boil! The night-black heavens look angry-faced; But life is little lost."

"I'll carry thee with joy, If needs be passing dove; For, o'er this stream, I pilgrims bring, In service to one Christ, a King, Whom I have never seen, yet love."

"I thank thee," said the boy. Cheerful Aprobus took The burden on his shoulders great, And stepped into the waves once more, When, lo! they leaping rose and roar, And 'neath the child's light weight, The tottering giant shook.

"Who art thou?" cried he, wild, Struggling in the middle of the ford; "Boy as thou lookest, it seems to me, The whole world's load I bear in thee."

"Yet for the sake of Christ, thy Lord, Carry me," cried the child, "No more Aprobus swayed, But gained the further bank; and then A voice cried, 'Hence, Christophorus be; For carrying thou hast carried Me, The King of Angels and of men, The Master thou hast served.'"

And, in the moonlight blue, The saint saw—not the wandering boy, But him who walked upon the sea, And o'er the plains of Galilee, Till, filled with mystic awe, joy, His dear Lord—Christ—he knew.

Oh! little is all loss, And brief the space 'twixt shore and shore, If thou, Lord Jesus, on us lay, Through the dead waters of our way, The burden that Christophorus bore, To carry THEE across!"
